

Benz Patent Motorwagen Replika

ALL TIME STARS is pleased to offer this Benz Patent Motorwagen Replika.

On January 29, 1886 Karl Benz patented the first automobile – the three-wheeled Patent-Motorwagen. Later in the same year just 60 miles away Gottlieb Daimler patented an internal-combustion engine and began with the construction of a four-wheeled horseless carriage. At the time neither Benz nor Daimler were aware of the other's work. The rest is (automotive) history. In commemoration of this milestone of engineering, Mercedes-Benz had produced a series of fully functioning replicas of the Benz Patent-Motorwagen in 2001 / 2002, mainly for museum and other public exhibit purposes. This particular example was built in 2002, was recently acquired, inspected and serviced by the Classic Center and presents with full functionality.

The car belongs to our Concours Edition. These classics in rare original condition with low mileage and vehicles that have been carefully restored by Mercedes-Benz Classic experts in Fellbach/Stuttgart.
